

KUL CREATIVE SP. Z O.O.

Drawing from the potential, the history and experience of the John Paul II Catholic University of Lublin (KUL), the company offers a wide range of services on scientific research and development. KUL has been one of the most important centers of the Catholic thought and has affected the shape of the Polish science and culture, gaining wide recognition both in Poland and abroad since 1918. KUL is now one of the fastest developing universities in Poland. KUL Creative constitutes a response to the current needs of the business, which expects a high level of service and increased flexibility from the scientific community. Our priority is to satisfy customers by meeting their demands and providing them with the best quality of service. We provide consulting and training services for private and public sectors. The company specializes in facilitating the processes of knowledge transfer from science and research institutes to enterprises.

Products & Services: Education, research and transfer of knowledge, project development services to large companies, SMEs and the local community.
