

ASKO

producent produktów PVC

ASKO has been associated with the construction materials industry since 1993. We started out as a wholesaler of construction products, specifically distributing and installing siding products imported from the U.S. in the region. In 1997, we began to import PCV panels from Greece. After the 8-year development period in Poland, the company was determined to take a strategic step forward and open a manufacturing facility and launch the ASKO line of PCV panels. In 2009, the product line was expanded to include the U.S siding on soffits as part of our production scheme. The broad line of soffit products satisfied a specific market niche. ASKO products are sold not only in Poland but also internationally. The company is in the process of expanding manufacturing with a broad line of PVC and PMMA films with UV protection used for broad spectrum of applications.
